The Pope's Love Story.

The following was written by Louisa

Mahabach for The New York Herald, five years ago:

There was yet one more person who knew of him—namely, a young and beautiful girl, who had been living for him during the past three years, who, for three long years, had hoped for his advent, although she must have known that he would never again appear. At one time she had hoped that the young Count's love was of a nature so fervent and constant as to cause

him to forget the difference in their respective stations of life which seemingly separated them from each other. The young lady was the beautiful daughter of the Widow Devoti, whose house the Count Mastai had, during several months,

been a daily and welcome visitor. The son of the widow was a brother student, and as such he had been introduced to the family,

where he became intimate and spent happy hours of recreation.

Happy, happy were those hours, and often, when many years have passed by,

Paul IX. then surrounded by the splendor

of the Papal palace, pleasantly recalled

those happy hours of his youth; and often,

in lonesome moods, on an approaching eve,

these recollections lighted up his soul.

The beauty of Camilla Devoti was equal to her amiability and to her accomplishments.

Count Mastai Ferretti, who largely shared her musical talents, was charmed with Camilla's voice; it seemed to him the voice of an angel, bringing sweet tidings

from unknown regions and whispering holy secrets into his ears. They read together the sublime verses of Tasso, and probably on one of those occasions the young Count was suddenly reminded of the late Francis de Rimini, who was acquainted with her lover's tales of love, and it was then that she vowed these readings should not culminate in pain and af-liction such as were experienced by Francisca.

With a view to avoid these dangers

Count Mastai determined on a decided course of action. He had been wonderfully and devotedly to attend to his studies, but subsequently he had neglected

them and indulged himself in a dreamy existence of poetry and music. Mastai had firmly resolved to free himself from dangers to which unsettled habits might expose him. For this purpose he waited on the sudden loss of a dear friend. But when day after day passed by without even the remotest possibility of recovering tidings, when she was overcome by grief and eventually she was stricken down with fever.

At the same time when Camilla was suffering the height of anguish, Mastai

Ferretti was kneeling at the feet of the Holy Father, of whom he had so often obtained an audience.

Mourning and trembling as addressed the Pope, "A terrible misfortune

has overtaken me; a dreadful misfortune,

from which I suffered in my early youth,

and which the physicians thought had abandoned me forever, has again made its appearance. The evening before last,

while returning home from a friendly visit,

I was suddenly seized in the open street

with an epileptic fit. In a state of unconsciousness I was carried to a hospital, where

I found myself the following morning,

much injured and with a broken heart.

This misfortune, Holy Father, troubles my future and destroys my fondest wishes; it interferes—"He was unable to give utterance to his thoughts, and lowered his head.

"It interfered with your love," said, sympathetically, the Pope. "Is not that so, my son?"

Mastai was able to reply only with a flow of tears.

The good Pope spread out his hands and pronounced a blessing upon the kneeling youth, and said, with a solemn voice, "That is my son, that the love of God is placed higher than the love of man. He has given you a sign which implies that thou shalt turn away from worldly matters and turn thy attention to the holy. My son, I understand the bidding of the Lord,

who desires that thou shalt not seek salvation in worldly things, but He beseeches thee to be a servant of his altar. Do, then, as the Lord bids. Thou hast a desire to become a soldier in my body guard, but thou shalt be a soldier in the body guard of the Lord. Turn to the Holy Virgin of Loretto, bend thy knees and solicit convalescence; affirm to her thy resolution that thou wilt faithfully devote thyself to the service of the altar and thou shalt receive convalescence."

The standard remedies for all diseases of the lungs are SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYR-

AP, SCHENCK'S TONIC, and SCHENCK'S

MANDRAKE PILLS, and if taken before the lungs

are destroyed they effect a speedy cure. To these medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases. The Pulmonic Syrup

ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, and the patient has relief from the prostrating cough. The Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse

and stimulate the stomach and liver; they remove all obstructions, relax the gall bladder and start the bile freely, and the liver is soon relieved. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed mixes with the food and prevents sour-ing. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well

if care is taken to avoid fresh colds. Full directions accompany each preparation. All who wish to consult Dr. Schenck personally, can do so at his principal office, corner of Sixth and Arch Sts.,

Philadelphia, every Monday.

Letters to the above address, asking advice, answered free of charge.

Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists everywhere.

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1918.
CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.
—Valentine's day to-morrow.
—Where's the next auction sale?
—Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. this evening in their room.

—Over three hundred postal cards used in Janesville every day.
—The fifth social hop of the Long Branch Dancing Club to-night at Apollo hall.
—Heimstreet has been giving his drug store on Main street a new coat of paint. He's business, all over.
—The Knights of Honor increased their numbers last Monday night by the addition of several new members.
—Remember the Temple of Honor has a special meeting at 7 o'clock to-night to arrange for Mr. Kimball's funeral.
—Dr. Palmer shows up his sun pictures for the benefit of the Baptist Sunday school to-night. It costs a dime to get in.
—Mr. J. F. Johnson, Northwestern Scandinavian agent for the B. & M. R. R. Land Department, called at the sanctum to-day.
—The cold water folks should step out and take a smile. The first total abstinence society was organized fifty-two years ago to-day.

—There are twenty masculines and eighteen feminines who are invited to call at the post office and get letters which remain uncalled for.
—The Centennial is over, but the Centennial Dry Goods Store isn't. It is doing a more thriving business than ever, and is deservedly popular.
—"A Kiss in the Dark," was the title of an amusing farce played at the All Souls parlors last evening. A dance and other attractions were on the programme.
—Rev. H. C. Tilton is still very low, and though his condition has been somewhat more hopeful during the past week or ten days, yet his recovery is still doubtful.

—Don't forget Dr. Palmer's exhibition at the Baptist Sunday school rooms to-night. The oxy-hydrogen light will be used to illuminate the pictures, and ten cents will admit you.
—On and after Monday next, W. H. Bonesteel will do all kinds of custom grinding, including wheat, at his mill, at Monterey. He guarantees satisfaction in every particular.

—M. C. Smith & Son are still furnishing clothing at extremely low prices. If you don't believe it, call and see their stock which includes also all kinds of gent's furnishings goods.

—The Presbyterians had a very social gathering last evening, which was well attended. Prof. Filmore rendered some choice music, readings were provided, and edibles and games made the enjoyment complete.

—The Congregationalists meet this evening at the residence of Dr. Q. O. Sutherland. Special effort is being made to make the entertainment social, musical, and amusing. Come one, come all, and pay your ten cents.

—Prof. A. B. Severance commences a second term next Monday night, when there will be an opportunity for all to join his class. He has been very successful in seasons past, and it is hoped that he will be well patronized in a second term.

—The crowding in of agricultural implements at the freight houses shows that some, at least, are getting ready so that when the spring time comes, gentle Annie, they may not be found wanting. Gentle Annie had better hurry up, for spring will get the start of her.

—The dry goods men are trying to perfect an agreement by which they will close their stores every evening at 8 o'clock, except Saturday. A meeting of dry goods clerks is also called, to be held in Apollo hall next Tuesday evening at half-past 8 o'clock.

—Several search warrants have been taken out in the vain hope of securing the hams stolen from the smoke-houses, of which mention was made the other day. So far the search has resulted in nothing except annoying several parties whose premises were suspected and accordingly searched.

—Mr. and Mrs. B. F. [Crossett entertained about forty of their friends last evening in a most enjoyable manner, the gathering being of the nature of a tea party. The occasion served to strengthen the ties of friendship and respect, already strong, and furnished much true pleasure and enjoyment to both guests and hosts.

—The many friends and acquaintances of Prof. Titcomb will be glad to learn that he has really decided to return to this city and take up his abode here about the first of March. A large number of pupils have already applied for instruction, and many more will doubtless join on or before his coming.

—The Musical Club will hold its usual meeting this evening. The programme will doubtless prove an interesting one. Prof. Van Cleave will first analyze, and then play Beethoven's grand sonata, Opus 110. Mr. Frank Flinterbach, a fine baritone singer from the Blind Institute, will probably sing Schumann's song, "The Two Grenadiers."

—A man need not stop but once at Harvard to learn that Ayer's hotel, under the proprietorship of M. M. Towne, is one of the best feeding places in the west. His popularity seems to be daily increasing, and his success is honestly earned and well merited. Neatness and abundance are characteristics of the table, and a hearty hospitality pervades the house.

—Sergt. Childers has returned, after a week's hard work in the temperance cause, last Sunday and Monday evenings he did some good work in the little town of Capron, and left the place with a Red Ribbon club of 148 members. He will speak to-night at Barker's corners to an open session of the Temple of Honor. Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and evening he will be at Harvard, and expects to enroll fully 500 Red Ribbonists there.

local took a look at them to-day at Bugbee's stable opposite the Schuyler house. The stallion Auburn is particularly a beauty. He is a fine bay, and is a thorough Almont. Every one interested in stock should take a look at these new arrivals. It don't cost a cent to peep at them.

CAUTIOUS COUNCIL.

The City Fathers are Carefully Guarding the Charter.

They Devote an Evening to Much Talk and Little Business.

The city fathers gathered around the aldermanic board in regular session last evening. His Honor presiding, and the chairs of Ald. Fitzgibbon and Ald. Judd alone being vacant.

After the reading and approval of the minutes, a number of bills were read and referred, including the following one from Dr. Horne, whose previous bill seemed to lack sufficient explicitness. The following however was explicit enough to suit the most exacting, and was accordingly ordered paid along with the rest of the batch:

The City of Janesville to Dr. Wm. Horne, Dr. To remove two large dead dogs from anchorage in Rock river just below the lower bridge, and one black dead dog from the fence post of the jail, all done by positive and direct order of His Honor the Mayor, P. Norcross—$2.50.

The Judiciary Committee sought and obtained further time for consideration of the bill of Lawrence & Atwood.

The January report of the Board of Education showing bills paid to the amount of $242.72, of which $187 was for salaries, and the balance for sundry expenses was placed on file.

Secretary Heimstreet of the Sack Company reported that S. W. Smith and Dr. St. John had resigned and C. S. Jackson and T. F. Croft had been elected to fill their places.

The saloon license of G. C. Fritz was transferred to T. J. Marshall, on recommendation of the License Committee, Ald. Heimstreet voting in the negative.

Ald. McKinney moved to allow the bill of Davies & Bro., for oil furnished the Fire Department amounting to only a few dollars. This was a starter and a revival of the old issue brought up in the Robinson claim, only in a new form resulted. Ald. Church called particular attention to the charter, and insisted that it was a violation to vote for the bill, according to the opinion of the City Attorney and the previous rulings of the Mayor.

A lively discussion ensued in which all hands joined. Ald. Church had studied not only the charter, but had been reading up what Webster had to say as to the meaning of "contract," the charter forbidding any alderman from being interested in any contract with the city. The City Attorney was called out. He thought that it might technically be a violation of the charter, but did not think it was the meaning or intention of the framers of the charter to forbid the payment of such bills as those of Ald. Davies for oil, or Ald. Blount for lumber, or Ald. Hutchinson for labor. The Mayor saw a great difference between such bills and such a bill as that of Dr. Robinson. Some of the aldermen including Lawrence, Blount and Wilcox, also saw a difference, but others couldn't see it. Ald. Davies finally asked to have the bill withdrawn. Ald. Blount objected. He thought that this point might as well be settled first as last, and there was no better bone of contention as a settlement than this little bill of Davies'. If the line was to be drawn so closely that no alderman could transact any business with the city, it would be difficult to get any business men to serve at all in the council.

Ald. McKinney moved that the bill be postponed for one week which was carried, Blount, Hutchinson and Lawrence, voting in the negative. Afterwards a bill of Rogers & Hutchinson was brought up and Ald. McKinney moved that an order be drawn to pay it. The same point was again brought up that Mr. Hutchinson, an alderman, was interested in the claim, and there was another friendly and humorous squabble over what the charter meant. On being put to the vote, however, the bill failed to pass, Blount, Lawrence, McKinney and Wilcox, voting for it, and Church and Hemming against it.

The Davies bill was again brought up on a motion to reconsider its postponement. The motion to reconsider was passed, Blount, Hutchinson, Lawrence and Wilcox, voting in the affirmative, and Church, Hemming and McKinney against it. The motion was then made that an order be drawn to pay it. Ald. Blount, Hutchinson, Lawrence and Wilcox voted in the affirmative and Ald. Church, Hemming and McKinney in the negative. Hemming and McKinney changed to the affirmative and the bill was ordered paid.

Ald. McKinney moved a reconsideration. He had changed his vote for that purpose but found that under parliamentary rulings such a motion could not be entertained. Love's labor was lost. In vain he pleaded that he had voted under a misapprehension of the situation. The Mayor wouldn't believe he was that kind of a man. In vain he searched the blue books for authority to support his motion. In vain he pleaded to be put on the record as voting "aye" when he meant "no." The Council indulged in a frolic over the matter, in which an opportunity was proffered for all hands to give vent to their views and feelings on the Dr. Robinson bill, which was really at the bottom of it all. Beyond this, little was done.

Ald. McKinney made a very pertinent inquiry about the "Bijou." He understood there was a regular show there, and that the city was not receiving its legal income from the same. Was it so? If so, whose business was it to make the proprietor put up or shut up? The Treasurer said he had not received any license money for three weeks from that show.

The City Clerk said he had nothing to do with the collection of licenses. That belonged to the Treasurer. The Treasurer said he received all the money he could get, but could not enforce the law. That belonged to the Mayor. The Mayor said, if it was considered his duty he would see to it.

On motion of Ald. Blount the City Clerk and City Attorney were instructed to investigate, and take such action as seemed necessary concerning the reassessment of Mrs. Beal's property for pavement purposes.

The Treasurer's report for January was approved, and after the transaction of some further business, adjournment was taken.

THE WEATHER.
The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 26 degrees above and at 1 o'clock 33 degrees above. Clear. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer indicated 12 degrees and 20 degrees above. A telegram from East Saginaw says that from two to six inches of snow has fallen in the lumbering district and lumbermen get along very well by making the road at night.

The indications to-day are colder, partly cloudy weather, northerly winds, stationary or rising barometer.

BURGERS AT WORK.
Look out for burglars, and sleep with one eye open. Last Monday night Mrs. M. R. Beach, residing on North Jackson street, heard a suspicious noise at the front door, speedily followed by a lively barking on the part of her dog. She seized her revolver and hastened to the front window, just in time to see some fellows scamper down the steps and out the gate. They waited not to apologize for their rude disturbance or to leave their cards. It is to be regretted that they did not wait long enough to receive one of the bullets which was awaiting them, or at least to have given the canine a chance for a feed.

A UNIQUE SUIT.
Are Premiums Offered for Races a Species of Gambling?—The Courts are to be Called on to Answer the Query—Interesting Reading for Lawyers and Horsemen.

A decidedly unique and interesting lawsuit has been commenced through attorneys Eldridge & Fethers, the title of the case being Henry D. McKinney vs. Samuel J. Goodwin. Mr. McKinney is the well-known aldermanic representative from the Third ward, and Mr. Goodwin is a Beloit of prominence and means. The amount involved is not very great, but the case, if pressed to a decision, as it doubtless will be, will give adverse test of the statutes as far as they relate to gambling. The statutes render it impossible to secure judgment for money wagered, and the real turning point of the contest will be whether premiums offered for races come under the head of gambling. The outline of the claim of Mr. McKinney is briefly as follows: In October 1913, Mr. Goodwin, under the name of the Beloit Driving Park Association advertised a series of races to take place for certain premiums. One of these races occurred on the 9th of that month, it being a race for four-year-olds, the premiums offered being $100 to first, $70 to second, and $30 to third. McKinney paid the required entrance money $30 or ten per cent. to Mr. Goodwin, and entered his trotting mare Euclyptus. There were several other entries, and the race was trotted as advertised. The judges through Mr. Goodwin as Chairman announced from the stand that McKinney's Euclyptus had taken second money. Since then Mr. Goodwin has refused to pay the $70 thus awarded, assigning as a reason that McKinney's mare was distanced in the third heat.

An appeal was taken to the Board of the National Trotting Association and a decision was rendered against Goodwin, and ordering him to pay over the money to McKinney, or suffer the penalty of having the Beloit Driving Park ruled out of the Association. Mr. Goodwin still refused for reasons stated and a formal expulsion was recorded.

There has probably never been a similar suit brought into the courts, and horsemen particularly, as well as attorneys will watch its termination with great interest. The court will be called upon to decide whether the premium thus offered is in the nature of a wager or comes under the statute covering all forms of gambling, and consequently it will have its effect upon every driving park and fair ground, as similar cases are likely to arise at almost any time.

Both parties are said to be gritty and determined to carry the matter up until it reaches the Supreme Court.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF NEW YORK.
Noticeable Points in the Business of the Company for 1917.

The death claims for 1917 are $675,659.20 less than in 1916.

The amount paid for surrendered policies in 1917 was $2,074,340.25 less than paid in 1916.

The amount received for interest and dividends in 1917 was $4,882,067.32, being $1,806,607.32 in excess of the death losses, and $405,911.51 more than the death losses and expenses combined.

The surplus in 1917 is $10,669,543.65 being $406,064.21 greater than in 1916.

The amount paid for discounted endowments in 1917 was $2,214,118.85.

The number of new policies issued in 1917 was 8,494, insuring $26,951,815.

The dividends to policy holders are larger than in 1916, and the surplus for future division is greater than ever before in the history of the company.

Security is what makes insurance desirable, and the value of a life policy depends upon the certainty that it will be paid at maturity.

The Mutual Life of New York possesses all the elements desirable in a life insurance company. No other institution of the kind compares with it. The assets, now over $95,000,000, are securely invested, and of the most solid and productive character. This, coupled with its immense surplus, enables it to furnish indemnity at less cost—with greater security—than any other company.

Applications for insurance or for agencies will receive due attention by H. M. Hart, Special Agent for Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.

EMERALD GROVE.
—The auction at the Livingston farm last Thursday was attended by a large crowd, and the articles were sold at very good prices. A Clydesdale stallion belonging to Mr. William Duthie was bid off at $395.

—William Millington butchered a pig last week, nineteen months old, which weighed 615 pounds, bred, Poland chins and Chester white.

—C. Spear has just returned from a three week visit to Chicago.

—The place known as the Livingston farm, embracing 240 acres, was recently sold for $2,000.

—F. O. Childs has recently purchased and set up on his farm an oscillating feed grinder, of Joel Proctor, Esq. The grinder is operated by a lever attached to the main pumping rod of his wind mill, which is a common type, Hadeny mill, and pumps the water for all of his stock from a well 105 feet deep, both are done at the same time with perfect ease. He is feeding 80 hogs, and 13 head of cattle and grinds all of his feed.

—Thomas Barlass has returned from Nebraska. McNeely is very sick and it is feared will not recover.

SHOPPIER.
—Friday night the 8th inst. Mr. John Stanton, of La Prairie, lost by fire 25 bushels of clover seed and Messrs. Bruce & Mulner lost a new clover huller valued at $450. The machine had been in use during the day, and being new, some of the boxes had undoubtedly become heated, setting fire to the clover.

—On the morning of the 9th inst., occurred the death of Mr. Hadeny Cole, an old settler and much esteemed citizen of Shopiere. Mr. Cole had been an invalid for many years, suffering at times from Bright's disease. The funeral took place Sunday last.

FULTON.
—The ice houses in this part of the country are pretty well filled.
—Tobacco buyers are very numerous.
—E. N. Clark is again around looking after the interests of the Parker & Aldrich Windmill Co., of Rockford, Ill.
—The Mite or Literary Society met at David Vanhook's last Friday evening, but owing to the inclemency of the weather very few were present. The next meeting of the society will be held at Mr. John White's, Friday evening next. A good time is expected.
—Rev. M. Welby, a former pastor of Fulton, and recently of Milwaukee, was in the village last week looking well. He is not permanently located at present.
—The death of Mrs. James Stewart (nee Scofield) died Thursday night. Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased, Sabbath morning, Rev. Mr. May officiating. Many friends mourn her loss.

A Gentle Stim.
In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingling in a single day, it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Sore Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c; regular size, 75c. dec13dw
